

Reduced Sense of Smell in Patients with Severe Chronic Rhinosinusitis and its Implications for Diagnosis and Management: A Narrative Review

Zachary M. Soler · Scott Nash · Andrew P. Lane · Zara M. Patel · Stella E. Lee · Wytke J. Fokkens · Mark Corbett · Juby A. Jacob-Nara · Harry Sacks

Smell Loss in CRS is a Common Sign of Disease

Significant Impact & Burden of Smell Loss

Relationship Between Smell Loss and CRS Disease Severity

Smell Loss is a Key Element of Current Diagnostic Guidelines

Treatment of Smell Loss

Efficacy of biologics on reduced sense of smell assessed using UPSIT and on HRQoL assessed using SNOT-22 in phase III clinical trials

